To Our Alumnae

YOUR college is doing what it can to further the war effort. It is realized that in general things "as usual" are no longer the order of the day. Many of our students of last year are now employed in the war effort and I trust will return to college after the war and complete their work. This type of student will be beneficial to the college, and I believe the college will be beneficial to her.

A great deal of emphasis is being placed in some quarters on "short" courses on the college level. Some of the suggestions being made have merit and can be carried out by the college. We need to remember, however, that Farmville State Teachers College is primarily a teacher-training institution although we do have good curricula in other fields. We need to care for the war effort, but I can conceive of no so-called "short" course that we can offer that will be most beneficial in furthering our main purpose—the training of qualified teachers for the schools of Virginia. I think there is no better way for a specialized college like Farmville to contribute to the war effort than in doing what it can to train the best teachers possible. Teaching is a specialized field, and qualified teachers cannot be made overnight. Children need teaching now; there are children to be taught now. Down through the years there will be children to be taught. Our emphasis should be in convincing more qualified high-school graduates to go into teaching. We are fighting for education in a free world. What use will be that freedom if we do not have qualified teachers to educate the citizens of that free world?

Alumnae President's Letter

DEAR ALUMNAE,

The two years I have spent working with you have been the pleasantest years of my life. Maybe one reason for this is that we all love to reminisce as we grow older, and surely one has opportunity for that as president of an alumnae association. But that is not my only reason for enjoying the past two years. Thanks to you and to the people here, we have seen some things accomplished. Our undertakings have not been great, to be sure, and we suspect they would seem insignificant to certain colleges whose alumnae are rich; but just the same, we continue to set goals, and we usually reach them.

In the last two years, the alumnae office has been made into a very livable and workable place, thanks to Dr. Jarman and Sam Graham. Our association is getting on a budget basis, because we at least know now what we can and cannot pay for with the alumnae funds coming to our office. We have seen three portraits hung in the Library—paid for by our alumnae, faculty, and friends, and we have three more portraits in the making. Several gifts have been made to the college recently, and that makes us know we live in the hearts of our older alumnae and our friends of by-gone days. But best of all, we have your daughters, your friends, and your relatives here, and that bespeaks your loyalty to Farmville.

Besides all this, we are proud of the place you are taking in your communities and in this war crisis. If you were not so modest in your reports, however, we might be recognized as eligible to A.A.U.W. We feel sure that your achievements at other colleges and universities would give us a better chance for membership, if you would only let us have the facts for publication. Your office here has been corresponding with the national headquarters for some time.

On leaving this office I must confess one disappointment. We ask every year that addresses be corrected, and that you let us know where you are so that the magazine will reach you. Last year 400 magazines were returned. This meant a loss to the office, of course, but your loss of interest in your Alma Mater is what matters most. We know you have many other interests, and plenty of places for your money, but can't you send one letter and a money gift a year to keep your interest alive in Farmville?

On October 19, 1942, a letter went out from our office to each of our chapters, one paragraph of which I feel you should see. I shall copy this paragraph, for I believe you should, as individual members of the Association of Alumnae, know what action was taken last year on the financing of our organization. "Support your Alumnae Association financially. We voted on last Founder's Day to ask for contributions instead of dues this year, in order to give you an opportunity to give more or less than the $1.50, if you wish to. There is no intention to embarrass anyone. Any amount, within your means, will be welcome. The gift is just the testimony of your interest, and we do need both for furthering the needs of our College. Make your gift before Founder's Day, which is March 6, 1943, so that we may make a full report at that time."

We are looking forward to your reaction to the magazine. Letters from you are always gratifying. We need your continued loyalty and your support in everything we do at Farmville.

With sincere regards, I am

Cordially yours,

MARY PECK, Alumnae President

Founders Day 1942 and 1943

The occasion was a greater success than we had expected it could be. One hundred forty attended the luncheon, especially honoring Dr. Jarman's forty years of service here. The reunion classes were better represented than usual. We forgot we were at war that day, because the good fellowship that is always maintained on our campus was in high spirit over having so many of our "old girls" back.

The day was perhaps too full of entertainment, but the morning program, arranged and conducted by Miss Wheeler and Miss Kauzlarich, sent us off to a good start. Even the oldest of us were loath to leave when the day was done. Those of you who were not here may want to see the program. Note particularly "Reports from Alumnae" and imagine, if you can, the satisfaction we would have had if every chapter had sent in a report.

  - College Song . . . . . Students and Alumnae
- The individual telegrams, letters, and gifts were a boost to us all on the day, especially to Dr. Jarman.

Since the luncheon meeting was the high-light of the occasion, we should note several things that made it so. Ethel Cole Ould of the 1902 class was a guest speaker, and in her inimitable way, she really "put over" her conception of "The Farnville Spirit." In closing her talk, she said: "Through all the years, the lights that were put into our hands here in this school have not gone out. The way has been dimmed or shadowed for a time, perhaps, but never have we had a black-out." She ended with lines from Joyce Kilmer—a thought that to her expressed the Alma Mater Spirit in rhyme:

*"Because the way was dark and drear,
And clouds beset on every hand,
She put a song upon my lips—
She put a lantern in my hand."*

Miss Grace E. Mix, who has retired from teaching, made a beautiful tribute to Dr. Jarman as "Teacher, Leader, Friend." Miss Mix's thoughts were prompted, she said, by the flowers that were used to decorate the table that day. Those flowers were, to her, an evidence of how the girls who sent them felt about him, and she commented on the fact that others than the forty classes would doubtless like to put a pansy there for thought.

The gifts from alumnae that day should be mentioned. The 1917 class presented twenty-five dollars to be invested in a silver tray. The flower tribute of the forty classes, amounted to $48.10, thirty dollars of which was turned over to Dr. Jarman for the Founder's Day Fund. Three portraits were presented as gifts from alumnae and friends: Miss Celestia Parrish, Miss Estelle Smithey and Dr. Thomas D. Eason.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Lear, Mrs. Herbert Stokes, and Mrs. A. Y. Stokes were elected to honorary membership in our Association of Alumnae.

There were reports or messages from many chapters. (See Chapter Activities).

The Normal League Fund was changed to the Robert Frazer Memorial Fund. The same committee is collecting on debts owed the Normal League. Miss Rice is still getting very gratifying letters and checks from girls who borrowed money from the League, years ago.

Reunion

*Today reunion brings a gleam
Of laughter, of merriment
From out the past
To light the chaos
Of these dark times.
Then we smiled,
And never thought
Of the dread tomorrow,
We dreamed dreams,
And built castles
In the air.
What if they tumbled?
We could laugh
And build again.*

*We are not separated
We are one,
For miles do not count
Nor space.
Today we gird our loins
In unison
For the fight
To make our world
The world of right
Though our hearts ache,
And dread
And fear
Seize us,
We shall not part
For we are one
In heart.*

*God, give us strength
To smile
As blindly
Yet, hand in hand
We move
Through our vale
Of tears
Give us courage
In this reunion
To be a light
To our present world
In memory
Of those days

ANTOINETTE DAVIS SHAEFER, '13

FARMVILLE invites all her daughters to be her guests for the Founder's Day celebration this year. War conditions will prevent many from coming. However, it is sincerely hoped that the reunion classes of 1893, 1903, 1913, 1918, 1923, and 1933 will be well represented. Many things are being planned for your pleasure, and judging from the tone of the following class letters, there will be plenty of fun!

CLASS OF 1893

MY DEAR CLASSMATES:

As Thomas Wolfe often reminds us, "Time, like a river goes rolling by," and this river seems to have gained volume in our case at least. But in spite of this, let's meet in Farmville both those of February and June of 1893, for Founder's Day, and enjoy the beauty of our Alma Mater, and reminisce for awhile, that is, if we can recognize each other after Time, the alchemist, has done its work.

Come then, let's take up our crutches and canes, our specs and our knitting, kiss the great grand-children goodbye, and start out for the greatest reunion of the great class of 1893.

Until then,

Faithfully yours,

MARY BOYD FLOURNOY

(Mrs. William Cabell Flournoy)

Lexington, Virginia

CLASS OF 1903

DEAR CLASSMATES OF 1903:

On November 7 I sent you a letter asking for news for the magazine and for a contribution to frame the portrait that is being made of our friend Mrs. Portia Lee Morrison. To date I have had four letters, from which I shall quote.

Martha Goggin Woodson of Rustburg, Va., says: "I had to laugh at the idea of writing you news of my "Career." Most of my time has been filled with bearing and rearing six children. My days have been filled with washing, cooking, sewing, spanking, and praying. I worked and prayed, then reversed the order, and kept on"—"I have often felt thankful for my years at Farmville—for the training and the influence I received there. Three of my four daughters were educated there, and they are fine granddaughters of the old school. I enclose a dollar for the Morrison frame." How like Martha Goggin! And may I remark that I can think of no finer career than hers.

I wonder if you know who this one is: Teaching in the Lee Junior High School since 1912; many summers spent studying at Harvard, U. of Va., Duke, Wm. & Mary and Farmville; and busy during school sessions, not only with school work, but with extension courses to prepare for better service. Her present pastor is one of her old students and many of her students are on the faculty with her. Well, that's May Phelps of 301 Grandin Road, Roanoke. She says, "I'm inclosing one dollar for framing Mrs. Morrison's portrait. I am glad our class can do that." As I read her letter I saw the same May Phelps that I used to regard as the smartest and most reserved girl in our class.

Pearl Whitman Knox of Bear Poplar, N. C. wrote a nice, personal letter inclosing a dollar for the frame. Pearl has six daughters and five have college degrees; the sixth one is still in college. A fine record of service, I'd say.

Grace Warren Rowell of Smithfield, whose lovely twin daughters graduated here with honors, writes that she has had no startling events in her career, but that a full schedule of work in her home and in the community has given her great happiness. What more could one ask! Grace sends a dollar for the frame saying: "Mrs. Morrison was a big part of S.F.N.S. to me. It is good to know that our class can still cooperate after forty years, in doing something for our Alma Mater."

My greetings to you all, and a wish that you will make a special effort to come back this year on Founder's Day. If you can't come, may we hear from each one of you on that day? It will mean much to all of us here.

Very cordially yours,
MARY PECK, '03

CLASS OF 1913

DEAR CLASSMATES:

Last night, I had a wonderful dream!

FEBRUARY, 1943

I sat on one of those leather covered sofas in the Reception Hall of old S.N.S. Some time you too have dreamed you were there, no doubt. In my dream groups of very slender girls, in white linen dresses passed. And what could those funny things be on top of their heads? What was going on? Then I realized—for I too wore a white linen dress, and on top of my head was one of those buns. That was the coiffure of the day, known as the "Psyche." We were the class of 1913 and this was our Commencement Day.

I saw Dr. Jarman leave his office and go towards the auditorium. Miss Jennie Tabb followed with our diplomas in her hand. Miss Mary White Cox also joined the crowd.

Just then I awoke and I wasn't at Farmville, and I was sorry. But joyfully to my mind came the date, Founder's Day, March 6. That, girls, is the time of our reunion.

Besides Dr. Jarman and Miss Mary, several of our classmates, who live on the hallowed ground, will be there to greet us. Winnie Hiner is Treasurer of the College; Virgilia Bugg is the Registrar; Ruth Harding Coyner is the Alumnae Secretary. I shall not try to list all of our prominent members. Some of us have done more, and some less for Alma Mater. As for me, all I could do was to send my two daughters back to Farmville and I wish I had six more to send.

We pause in loving memory of our nine classmates who have gone on. These include our beloved President, Eva Larmour Roderick, who died in New York City in the summer of 1941; Evelyn Turnbull Gillette who was our President of the Student Government; and Dr. Thomas D. Eason, our Class Man. In spite of these sad losses, we must carry on.

Our class reunions seem destined to come during the time of great national crises. The last one, in March 1933, was held just as President Roosevelt closed all the banks. However, twenty of the 1913 class members were able to cash checks out of banks and returned. The bank holiday enabled Annie Tignor, who works in a bank in Portsmouth, to come back. Don't let the war keep you away this year—the national emergency ten years hence may be worse.

Won't you come and re-live with us the happy days of 1913? Bring old college pictures, your graduating dress, pictures of your family, etc. We will learn the real truth about who has achieved greatness and who has remained slender. This reunion will be something to remember forever, and here's hoping that each of you will come. Till then, with love.

Your Classmate
NENA LOCHRIDGE SEXTON

CLASS OF 1918

DEAR CLASSMATES OF 1918:

After so many years away, how grand it would be to meet you again in the Rotunda near "Joan of Arc." Remember how proud we were of being the largest class of graduates Farmville had ever had? From a junior class of two hundred and fifty, a hundred and seventy seniors graduated. I envy those of you who can be there for the reunion; it is a treat I would so love to share.

Since 1927, Florida has been my adopted state. Though far from Virginia, I have never felt very far removed from the teaching profession. My husband is with the State Department of Education, which means that he gets to see all parts of the country—even to Virginia—while I stay home, to wrestle with our major problems—twins and a single. Our ten year old boy feels about Virginia as I do, that it "rains in bigger drops, and snows in bigger flakes" there than anywhere else. Our twins, a boy and a girl, are eight, and altogether, we might say we have a full house.

Six years ago, when we lived in Tampa, I had the pleasure of seeing Miss Mary White Cox, who was there for a visit. Two Farmville girls, Ruth Garrett Shannon and Lois Moffett Unstot, were my close neighbors then. Here is another connecting link with Virginia. Our Florida governor, The Honorable Spessard L. Holland, is a first cousin of Gillian Spessard Walker, a Farmville graduate of 1916. And judging from newspaper pictures of the others, we have, by far, the best looking governor in the country.

Little did we, in 1918, think we would live to see another World War. Here in our state capital, we have a big air force in training, and fifty miles from Tallahassee, thousands are to be given their final training before being sent across to foreign service.

Now, from the serious to the trivial, if I could only be there and see you, what a good time we could have comparing notes, and talking over old times at Farmville! After twenty-five years, I still want to know: Do the Hampden-Sydney boys have to tip Aunt Lucy's successor as they come in the front door? Does anybody remember the song we sang to Mr. Coyner when he went to war? Do you suppose Tom Gleaves still has the picture of the red-faced boy, with the poem:

"I've got the hives and a new straw hat
So I'm going to Cripple Creek where my aunt lives at."

And does anyone know who stuck the chewing gum on Joan of Arc's nose? Please somebody find out, and let me know just as soon as Founder's Day is over.

ALOHA CLASSMATES OF 1918:

Can it be possible that twenty-five years have elapsed since we left dear Farmville?

To some of you it will not seem that long because you have been fortunate to break the span of years by returning to renew old associations. I wish I could be there this year and join in the fun of guessing who is who, but alas, I always seem to be too far away for reunions.

After I left our beloved Alma Mater, I taught several years in Williamsburg, Va., and also received my B.S. degree from William and Mary College. Then I married and settled in Illinois for several years.

When our daughter was a year old we went to Honolulu, T. H. and lived there for thirteen years. While there I taught homemaking in Kawanano Junior High and also received my M.A. degree from the University of Hawaii.

Life in the Hawaiian Islands was wonderful and living there was a great experience. It seemed so peaceful and carefree with the tropical vegetation and climate and the various people respecting one another's beliefs and rights. Through my school contacts, I learned to understand the culture of the Hawaiians, Chinese, Japanese, Koreans, and many other nationalities represented in the student body and faculty. It was with a pang of regret that we severed our connections there. However, we are happy now that we are located in California. I am doing substitute teaching in Sacramento and also am a homemaker for my husband and sixteen year old daughter.

Class of 1918, history has repeated itself. When we were attending Farmville we were at war and trying to help win in whatever way we could. Do you remember how we drove the faculty to distraction by knitting in class, in the halls, and all over the place? I am sure we are again doing our part, but let us hope our knitted articles look better now.

As representative of the Class of 1918 may I say Aloha to our understanding friend, Dr. Jarman; to those members of the faculty and school officials who were our inspiration and guide during the years we were at Farmville; to the officers and members of the alumnae association; and to the student body? May this year's Founder's Day and reunion be the best ever.

Aloha Nui Loa

DEAR CLASSMATES OF 1918:

Twenty-five years is a long time isn't it, but when I stop and look back, it doesn't seem so long since the memorable day in June when we received our diplomas.

We may be older in years and experience, but I'm sure we are just as young in spirit and loyalty as in the days of yore, so how about all of us planning to drop all our duties and cares for a few days and "truck" on back to College for Founder's Day, or if we can't go, then let's send a message—can't we?

I've always heard that it is a sure sign of old age to reminisce. According to that, I should be in a wheel chair—but girls, I'm far from that (sh-h-h, my joints do creak sometimes though). My 1918 and 1917 Virginians are worn and dilapidated with constant thumbing. In fact, my children have been highly amused at the curious apparel worn then. I often get in a comfortable chair and have a wonderful time wondering where each classmate is and what you are doing after so many years. I'm getting tired of looking at your pictures and want to see you in person, so come on, let's have a "jam" session at the class reunion.

Do you realize that our children are having much the same experiences we had while students at the "Normal School"? They are living in one of the darkest ages in civilization, and so were we. We thought that with the end of World War I, the world would be safe for Democracy. However, the merciless tyrant has again raised his head, and our sons are fighting again for Liberty. This time we will not fail, because we have learned through experience, and we know that America is not only fighting for her own Freedom but to liberate the enslaved peoples of the entire world. Out of this chaos will come Victory and after Victory must come a lasting Peace to insure Freedom to our children's children.

You realize the important part women are playing in the affairs of today, and as we all want to be the best possible citizen in our Community, State, and Nation, I believe each of us will surely glean helpful ideas by attending Founder's Day. Come on, all you teachers, defense workers and housewives—we need to get away from our every-day selves for awhile, so I'll meet you in the "Rotunda" on March 6.

Sincerely yours,
KATHERINE ANDERSON MADDOX
(Mrs. S. C. Maddox)
321 Arlington Street,
Lynchburg, Virginia

DEAR CLASS OF 1918:

How strange it seems that our class should have a reunion under war conditions similar to 1918. On that hot June graduating day, we waited for troop trains to pass Farmville before our very late train for Richmond arrived.

So far as I know, our class has produced no geniuses, but on second thought we should be thankful that we were an average group, for average people fill a definite place in this world. As Dr. Jarman would say, "We pulled the big 1918 load up the hill, working together as a team" and we can do it again!

I send greetings, hope and courage to all Farmville Alumnae. Hope based on the knowledge that the Alumnae of our Alma Mater are awake, ready and willing to meet any challenge of the future.

Yours truly,
LOUISA GLASSELL CHRISTOPHER
Remo, Virginia

DEGREE CLASS OF 1923

DEAR CLASSMATES OF '23:

Does it seem possible that we will celebrate our second reunion during the Founder's Day celebration in March, 1943? These years have passed swiftly and we'll let them fall away from our shoulders as we gather to renew our friendships and recapture happy memories of the days we enjoyed together at S.T.C.

Those of you who came back ten years ago will be keen on repeating the good times of that memorable occasion. And to those of you who couldn't come then—well, you don't know what you missed! Come on and join us and hear Anne's husband, Jeff, tease us about the "Twenty Years Plan."

If the government finds it necessary to restrict civilian travel and your gas coupons won't get you there, please write us a letter and we will enjoy reading it at our reunion party. Send it to our secretary, Mary Nichols, S.T.C.

Here's counting on the class of 1923 for a 100% attendance at reunion.

Sincerely,
LOIS WILLIAMS

DIPLOMA CLASS OF 1923

DEAR CLASSMATES OF 1923:

On Founder's Day, March 6, our class is called for reunion. Our Alma Mater is inviting and urging each one of us to forget our added years, put on our holiday manners, and come to Farmville. This is a reunion that we should not miss, because, remember, the next time we are invited, we will all be ten years older and will look even more prehistoric to undergraduate eyes than we do now. Let's have a big celebration now, while we are next to the youngest group present, so that we may not regret our unspent youth as we slowly but surely attain the place of the oldest class.

It will be good for each one to forget the war and other problems and relax in the sunny atmosphere of Farmville. I am sure that if you think long enough you can become convinced that you owe it to yourself to take this holiday. Together we can make this reunion of the class of 1923 one of our happy memories.

With the hope that there will be many friendships renewed on March 6, I am,

Sincerely yours,

MARGARET SHACKLEFORD WALKER
(Mrs. Frank S. Walker)

DEGREE CLASS OF 1933

DEAR CLASS OF '33:

Unless the calendar is mistaken, which doesn't seem likely, it has been ten years since we were together at Farmville, pursuing our studies and solving our momentous class problems with great wisdom and enthusiasm! It doesn't seem possible, does it? What have you been doing with these ten years? Husbands, babies, homes, careers—whatever your accomplishments have been, have any of them ever made you feel quite as important to yourself and to the world in general as you felt as a Senior at S.T.C.? I should certainly like to meet you all there at our first formal reunion on Founder's Day, 1943, and try to recapture that marvelous feeling, just for a day.

Wouldn't you like to see Joan, sitting calmly on her pedestal there in the Rotunda, poke your head into the Home Office to see if they still put "Specials" and calls on the mantel; and, walk down the hall, catching the aroma of cigar smoke that means Dr. Jarman is just around the next corner? Wouldn't the sound of the bell at chapel time or the strains of "All Hail, Alma Mater—" give you a few pleasant little chills down your spine?

There'll be all these familiar things waiting for us besides many interesting innovations to see. Then too, we can see each other and say, "Why you haven't changed a bit!", even if we might be stretching a point or two in saying it. After all, ten years can't have treated us too badly.

By all means bring pictures of husbands and children, wear any medals, keys or crowns you've won since we parted. We want to know and claim our celebrities!

Make your plans now. Let's all come back and revive the old spirit of '33.

Sincerely,

MARGARET GATHRIGHT NEWELL
(Mrs. William M. Newell)

DIPLOMA CLASS OF 1933

MY DEAR CLASSMATES:

Ten years have passed since our class walked forward from carefree college days into a new world. This is an anniversary which deserves special attention.

I often wonder how so many of you are and what you have been doing. In my travels with the navy, I am always seeing and hearing about many Farmville girls—even ran into one of my classmates in the Canal Zone! On this March sixth—our Founder's Day—it would be like those days ten years ago if we could all be at Farmville again.

In times such as these, transportation will be a hindrance and difficult for classmates far from Alma Mater. Right now it seems impossible for me to be back for the reunion. If by any chance, we are near, I shall certainly attend. Those carefree college days are a most pleasant memory in this "topsy-turvy" world and how I'd love to relive them for a few hours. Perhaps the prayers of those of us who can enter the chapel on March sixth will be answered so that we may have another reunion in the happier days of 1953. We shall all truly be there in spirit.

Sincerely,

MARTHA CROSS HOWE
(Mrs. F. N. Howe)
1730 Dogwood Place
Jacksonville, Florida

Ways to Serve Your College, Either as a Chapter or as an Individual

1. Solicit the right kind of new students.
2. Raise money for scholarships to deserving students.
3. Purchase a War Bond for the College.
4. Knit and sew as a group for the Red Cross. (Talk Farmville!)
5. Find suitable rooms and boarding places for new Alumnae coming to your community. (Especially in war crowded areas.)
6. Collect books, magazines, etc., for soldiers.
7. Have informal Saturday shopper's luncheons, as Norfolk did last year.
8. Plan interesting programs for your meetings. We suggest timely book reviews, lectures and discussion groups. Farmville Professors are glad to help in this way. (Give 'em a chance!)
9. Have Saturday morning movies for children.
10. Request our College films for movies at your meetings. One of May Day is now available.
11. Plan to come back on Founder's Day, March 6, 1943. If travel is impossible, be represented by telegram, letter and a contribution.
12. Send all changes in names and addresses and all news to the Alumnae Sec'y. Please help us keep up with all of our girls. Examine carefully the Alumnae directory of Reunion Classes in this issue, and send us any corrections.

Gifts to the College Since Founder's Day, 1941

Miss Coulling turned over to the alumnae office all of her annuals. The file is not quite complete, however, so if you will help fill in the gaps, we shall be grateful to you. The following issues are missing: 1901, 1902, 1904, 1909, 1911, 1917, 1919, 1939.

Mrs. R. C. Bristow of Richmond has placed in the boxwood mound at the end of the garden walk at Longwood, a lovely marble seat in memory of her husband who was Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds at our college from 1924 to 1929. This gift is especially appropriate, since Mr. Bristow was here when Longwood was purchased, and the restoration of the garden and grounds was a project in which he was deeply interested.

The Longwood Garden Club of Farmville gave $1,000.00 towards the restoration of the Longwood Garden. Many beautiful shrubs have been planted as a result of this gift.

The Richmond Alumnae Chapter have a Farmville Scholarship to offer next year, (1943-44) to a Richmond high school student who meets the requirements of the Chapter. The Norfolk Chapter announced a J. L. Jarman Scholarship Fund on Founder's Day, 1942, for the session 1942-43. The Lynchburg Chapter continues its Scholarship Fund which was started in 1909.

The 1917 Class, represented by Virginia Mayo Stratton, celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary on Founder's Day, 1942 and gave a silver dollar for each of the twenty-five years, asking that a silver tray be bought for Longwood. Kate Perry gave to Longwood a handsome antique tureen with silver ladle.

Mrs. Alfred I. DuPont (Jessie Ball) keeps up her interest in our college. For several years, she has sponsored the education of quite a number of girls whose academic and service records here are reported to her.

Each graduating class makes a very acceptable gift to the college.

The 1941 class gave a moving picture machine, $60 to the Founder's Day Fund; and, $32.50 to the Alumnae Magazine Fund. The 1942 Class gave $300 towards making a formal entrance at the end of the walk leading to the Rotunda. Other classes in these two years have added silver and bronze gifts that are much appreciated. These class gifts help to make our college a home rather than an institution. Three oil portraits have been hung in the Library and three more are in the making. The three being made are not yet paid for, but they are being done in good faith. Mrs. Fannie Littleton Kline sent to our Library many valuable books when she and Dr. Kline went to Texas to live. Miss Lula O. Andrews gave more than a hundred books of biography and fiction to the Browsing Room of our Library.

Mrs. Maude Foster Gill (1897) gave to the Library forty-two valuable books that belonged to Mrs. D. T. Elam, sister of Dr. Walter Reed. Many books have been added to the Morrison Memorial Shelf.

Why Farmville?

I have been asked to share with the Farmville Alumnae reflective comments of a group of our 1942-1943 freshmen on what they looked for and found at Farmville during this fall quarter. Because of having been here only seven weeks, these girls were merely asked to express their opinions on the question: Why Farmville? The only specific request was that they be sincere.

LUCILE JENNINGS

Asso. Professor of English

The Staff of the ALUMNAE MAGAZINE appreciates the "reflective comments" handed us by Miss Jennings and we wish it were possible to print them all. The following sentences have been chosen because in most cases, they express a consensus of opinion:

"Fellowship is one outstanding characteristic of this college. The upperclassmen make a point of being nice to freshmen." . . . Elizabeth Heath

"One of my reasons for coming here is that coming to Farmville is a family tradition." . . . Shirley Stonnell

"I am never bored at S.T.C., for there are always enough worth-while things to do to occupy my time." . . . Betty Ann Wimbish

"S.T.C. offers a good course in about any field in which one would wish to specialize. The discipline at S.T.C. does not make the college unbearable; it makes it a better place in which to live." . . . Christine Bailey

"I was taught the commercial course in high school by student teachers from this college. I received such good instruction from those students that I decided that S.T.C. must have a good commercial course." . . . Clara Clements

"My reasons for remaining at S.T.C. are the friendly, sweet girls; the intelligent understanding teachers and the school itself which touches one's heart and makes one want to remain here for years and years." . . . Jacqueline Parden

"The school, with its students governed by fellow-students, and under the wonderful leadership of Dr. Jarman, soon becomes a cherished place to a freshman." . . . Dorothy Overstreet

"I like Farmville's small, composite campus and connecting buildings, because they typify the spirit of unity that exists between the girls and the faculty." . . . Rosalie Fontaine Jones

"During the short while I have been at S.T.C. I have already learned many valuable lessons. The main one is that I must discipline myself." . . . Margaret Claiborne

"As a member of the Freshman Class at Farmville, I shall do my utmost to uphold her high standards and traditions, for it was these standards and traditions that made me register here as a student." . . . Ruth Williams

"I believe that by continuing at S.T.C. I shall be inspired by high ideals and purposes, and that I shall be fitted for a life worth-while." . . . Mary Ellen Petty

"I think I have learned or am well on the way to learning that I have to work for what I get, and that by studying the subject at hand, I may save myself much heartache, time, and extra work. I like, also, the religious life at Farmville. Prayers, as our daily candle-light service is called, is very helpful and impressive. Really, that is one reason why I want to stay here." . . . Margie Hewlett

"When I came to S.T.C., my only thoughts were of how often I could go home. Incidentally I had planned to go every week-end. But I haven't! One weekend I stayed here just to see what it was like. Well, I haven't been away but one week-end since. Another strange thing is how I like my studies! And that is most unusual for me! And still another strange thing is that I have learned that discipline is a necessary ingredient." . . . Jane Danby

"I picked S.T.C. for its high standards. And I know now how right those were who recommended S.T.C. to me!" . . . Nancy Blair

"Yes, S.T.C. is teaching me to think and to educate myself. There is no doubt that its guidance and instructions are most worthwhile to me." . . . Anna Lee Blanton

"I intend to continue my schooling here at S.T.C., for through the influence of the faculty and my fellow students, I have been set to thinking. And to learn to think straight is the thing I crave most of all things." . . . Jacqueline Showalter

"A few freshmen expect college life to be filled with more social life than study. The more intellectual freshmen, however, expect to gain some real knowledge through study." . . . Frances Satterfield

"I am only a two-month old college girl, but I love my college already. There are many reasons why Farmville is the college for me. First of all, I am learning to study and think for myself. . . Farmville tries to discover in the girls the hidden talents that even they themselves didn't know they possessed. I'm glad I came to Farmville, because Farmville is not only helping me find my place in the world, but she is starting me off on the right foot, I think." . . . Anne Jones

"My mother and sister had attended school here and both talked so fondly about its professors and traditions that I became very desirous that I, too, might some day be able to claim it as my Alma Mater." . . . Evelyn Grizzard.

War and Defense Work on Our Campus

SUSIE MOORE, Chairman for A.K.G.

These ideas are what all the activities on the campus at Farmville are centering around. Ask an officer of an organization what her group is doing, and she will tell you; "We are buying war bonds, we are selling war stamps, we are having a speaker from Europe, we are discussing the problems contained in building a new future."

It may be said to have started last year when the Dramatic Club adopted a British baby, or when the Junior Class began knitting for the Red Cross, or when first aid classes were organized on the campus, or when the Freshman Commission began collecting newspapers. For when uniforms made their appearance on campus and when our coca cola machines became limited to two crates a day, we knew the times were serious. When we really knew that we must wake up and enter in was when the startling news reports came over our radios last December 7.

And now, though we still go to the same English, Shorthand and Science Classes during the day, still laugh and talk and look on the Home Office mantle a dozen times a day for letters, notes, and telegrams, and still meet for bull sessions after we should be in bed, the whole atmosphere seems to have changed. This is not surprising, however. Farmville has always met and accepted her challenge. She has always kept abreast of the times. She has always done what her state and country have called on her to do. And Farmville is still Farmville.

WAR COUNCIL COORDINATES WAR ACTIVITY OF VARIOUS ORGANIZATIONS

Promoting, organizing, and supervising all the war activity on the campus is the newly organized War Council. Composed

With our country at war, life at Farmville has changed. We are aware of what is happening; aware that the conditions facing the world are grave; that we, as students facing life in a chaotic and perilous time, have a big job to do; that we must try to keep a reasonable amount of "things as they were" but that we must gear ourselves and our activities to a rapidly changing world; that we must help win the war and yet, more important, help win the peace after the war.

We must give our best efforts now to the war effort, yet we must also get a new conception of the world in its entirety; we must better understand other countries and other peoples and the problems facing them as well as us; and we must try to understand better the needs and problems that will have to be met after the war.

of an executive committee made up of the Student Body President, Y.W.C.A. President, Junior Class President, the Chairman of Campus League, and the faculty advisor, Dr. Walmsley, and of nine committees: Physical Fitness, Air Raid Protection, Publicity, Morale, Consumer Education, War Finance, First Aid, Conservation and Salvage, and Ritual, it is trying to awaken the student body to the needs of our country and show us what we, as an organized student body, can do in the war effort. Many other organizations on campus are co-operating with it in various programs, efforts and drives.

Y.W.C.A., A.A. AND OTHERS MEETING NEEDS OF CAMPUS

The Y.W.C.A. is endeavoring to keep the students awake to world conditions through its committees, for the year, following the theme, "Today's Call for Christian Action." Beginning in December, the "Y" is sponsoring every Wednesday night a project of bandage rolling in which all members may participate under the guidance of members of the Farmville Chapter of the American Red Cross. The association is, however, not neglecting spiritual needs in a time when spiritual needs are so great. The Prayers program is held every night, Religious Emphasis week goes on as usual, a religious study group meets every Monday, and union Sunday School for all the churches is held every fifth Sunday.

The Athletic Association, besides buying a $750 War Bond is cooperating with the Physical Fitness Program in making available for all students various sports at convenient times of the day and providing students capable of giving instruction in these sports if needed, in the effort to get more girls to participate in recreational sports. To provide recreation and entertainment for the girls on weekends when more of them are staying here, the

A.A. has enlarged and improved its "Play Night" on Saturday to include more indoor sports and games.

Kappa Delta Pi, through its program, is emphasizing education and its part in conserving spiritual values for such times as today with talks by students and faculty members on the contributions of such fields as art, sociology, religion, and music to this need. These program meetings have been open to the entire student body. In cooperation with the War Council, Kappa Delta Pi is endeavoring to inform the student body in regards to current war problems and future peace problems by exhibits in the library, by bringing in speakers, and by sponsoring a discussion of war problems.

American Education Week this year was jointly sponsored on our campus by Kappa Delta Pi and the J. L. Jarman Chapter of Future Teachers of America. Student speakers were selected to talk at chapel each day on different phases of the theme, "Education for Free Men." F.T.A. is also making a special study of the effects of the conflict on the various countries involved in the war.

The Association for Childhood Education is centering its program around the teacher's responsibility in a world at war, with various programs and talks based on this topic. Its yearly project is the aid they are giving in the provision of playground equipment for the Farmville Elementary School.

VARIOUS ORGANIZATIONS FURNISHING AND OBTAINING SPEAKERS ON WORLD AFFAIRS

Pi Gamma Mu is sponsoring a year's program of talks and discussion based on the new world order that will follow the war. Talks are given and discussions are held on phases such as mistakes made after World War I, how the new peace will be made, and questions of race, imperialism, politics, education, religion, and economics of the new world order, with the hope of building a more intelligent understanding of these problems. Pi Gamma Mu is also helping the War Finance Committee of the War Council in the sale of war stamps and the making of war stamp corsages.

Beorc Eh Thorn canceled its annual picnic last spring and bought First Aid Kits for the dormitories. It, in realizing the need for a better understanding between our country and the other Allied Nations, brought to our campus in December Professor Vladimir Nobokov, distinguished Russian novelist and lecturer, for a program free to faculty, students, and any others caring to attend.

Alph Phi Sigma, national scholarship fraternity open to freshmen and sophomores, this year has a membership of sixty-five which may become larger during the year. These members are selecting topics that bear on the present situation in world affairs and are having well informed persons to lead their discussions at the regular monthly meetings.

The Debate Club and Pi Kappa Delta are giving civic talks, forums, and roundtable discussions on war and post-war problems to local organizations such as the Lions Club and Rotary Club.

GAMMA PSI, ALPHA KAPPA GAMMA AND DRAMATIC CLUB HELPING WITH FARMVILLE SERVICEMEN CENTER

Gamma Psi has turned over its entire program to the war effort. Its work has been largely devoted to poster making in advertisement of defense and war projects in the school and community. However, they have also painted the design for a shuffleboard game to be used by Servicemen at the local recreational center and have obtained and reconditioned twelve full size wall maps for the center.

Alpha Kappa Gamma is emphasizing

Student Leadership in the "World Crisis" as its year's work, attempting to bring to the foreground solutions to student problems resulting from the present world situation through the efforts of the individual members. Most of the proceeds from the annual Alpha Kappa Gamma sponsored Circus were contributed to the upkeep of the Servicemen's Center in Farmville and plans have been formulated to provide student assistants in entertaining at the center this winter and spring.

The Dramatic Club last year bought a $1500 war bond and this year contributed to a Red Cross fund to supply chairs for the Infirmary at Camp Pickett. Adopting year before last a British baby to support they are continuing this project this year and are incorporating into their plans this year the provision of light refreshments at the Servicemen's Center in cooperation with the Farmville Recreational Committee. The Dramatic Club and the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs gave the fall play five times, the second night at school being for the benefit of the Recreational Center, one night being at Camp Pickett, and two nights being at the Little Theater in Lynchburg because they were unable to get men for the cast there.

OUR COLLEGE CURRICULA IN WAR TIME

That Farmville is thoroughly and actively awake to the fact that our nation is at war to help maintain the very ideals for which the college stands is evident from the reports of the various student organizations on campus. While many of us often yearn for more active service, we stop and remind ourselves that we are training teachers, who must be the front line of defense at home, who must interpret the whole war situation intelligently, and who must be imbued with the ideals of a just peace. It is thus that we content ourselves, adjust our subject matter materials to a new world situation, and go about our teaching with greater zest.

Many college curricula have been revised to meet these new war needs. Some, as the departments of biology, physics and chemistry, have found it unnecessary to make many major changes. Students, realizing that there is a definite need for science teachers, as well as a demand for science workers in defense jobs, have crowded the classes in these departments. Here they find well equipped laboratories and well planned courses. A visit to the biology laboratory reveals 60 compound microscopes, including 20 oil immersion microscopes, the latter used to study in bacteriology, while in the chemistry and physics laboratories one finds no shortage of equipment, in spite of the fact that much of it might be listed as supplies unavailable, due to war shortages. This is due to the fact that supplies were well stocked before war was declared.

A tour through the rooms of the geography department reveals maps and more maps. Here, too, one sees students making maps of the various war fronts, emphasizing distances, strategic islands, arrows indicating the advance and direction of army advances, and flags of the various nations being placed at controlling points. There are books and magazines for interpreting problems relating to both the war and the peace that must follow, and newspapers to encourage the reading of war news. One new course entitled the "Geography of the War" has been added to the curricula in this field, otherwise few changes were necessary.

A pre-view of other departments reveals what is being done in each field.

HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT

The economic and social welfare of a nation at war depends upon the field of Home Economics. Therefore the essential subject matter, and the development of techniques and skills for this work are stressed, and opportunity is given for motivating projects connected with the problems of the home and family under war conditions. Points of attack for these problems are made through the study of Money Management, Food and Nutrition, Home Care of Sick, Family Morale and Child Care, Clothing the Family, Successor Materials, Healthful Housing, Shortages and Rationing, Maintenance of Equipment. The teacher training experience affords opportunity for guidance in teaching high school boys and girls how to solve some of the problems of the American Home during war and post war periods.

MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT

The mathematics department will offer this spring, and in the first term of the summer session and next year one of the popular "refresher" courses. It is a method course for those who will teach high school mathematics, a "refresher" course for those whose proficiency has been impaired through disuse and who need improvement in understanding and accuracy for personal use. The content will be the essential high school mathematics needed by students and civilians who are preparing for war work, both military and industrial, with emphasis upon air navigation problems.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

The Music Department, mindful of the tremendous contribution it can make in this present crisis, is making a study of the folk music of the allied nations—especially with reference to Russia. Included also is the music of the South American Nations which has become a definite study throughout the country. In appreciation classes lectures are being given on Tscholkowsky and the new composer Shostakovich. In the choral department being stressed is the oratorio of which the spiritual values of music are preeminent. The study for the year are the two oratorios—Brahm's "Requiem," and Dvorak's, "Stabat Mater." Coupled with these is the desire on the part of the Music Department to render such services to the camps as can be arranged, and the College Choir has placed its services at the disposal of the commanding officer of Camp Pickett. Music is a great morale builder and it is through the agency of the best music that the department wishes to express its interest.

PHYSICAL AND HEALTH EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

The athletic program has been greatly accelerated. Opportunity is provided for students to participate in a large number of activities, swimming, horseback riding, hiking, archery, golf, tennis, hockey, and basketball under the direction of members of the staff assisted by student leaders. A course in Safety and First Aid is given with college credit. This course meets the requirements of the American Red Cross

Standard and Advanced First Aid Courses. All freshmen are required to pass the Red Cross Beginners Swimming Test. Special attention is being given to individual health practices and hygienic living in general in freshman physical education classes. The Health Service Program of the college has been given added impetus. The Department of Physical Education assists with the follow-up program especially as it relates to physical activities and remedial exercises.

HISTORY AND SOCIAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

The History and Social Science Department is offering for the spring term a course, America at War, using as a text the course in the Educational Program of the Second Army prepared under the supervision of General Ben Lear. It is also offering in the same term, a social study of the America that is at war. The head of the department serves as faculty advisor of the College War Council, which attempts to coordinate the war functions of the college under nine committees with student chairmen and faculty advisors. The department also sponsors a forum discussion group of leading students working on the problem, "Why America is at War." Three members of the department assist in a program for the year in Pi Gamma Mu, which studies the problems of possible postwar adjustments. The regular classes of the department are all oriented for service in time of war.

FINE ARTS DEPARTMENT

The Department of Fine Arts and its related Elementary School Department is striving to retain the creative spirit in art instruction, at the same time dedicating a portion of its work as a morale building service to the school and community in posters, placecards, symbolic designs and illustrations. A new course in mechanical drawing is being offered in 1943-44 for those students who may wish positions in the field or may teach the information in high schools.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

In attempting to set up any program of studies, whether it is to meet an emergency or ordinary situation, one is confronted with a number of problems and conditioning factors which must be met if the educational program is to fulfill its objectives. Considering all these factors, the Department of Business Education, concludes that it can contribute most adequately to the war effort by "DOING BETTER THE WORK WHICH IT IS DOING." The two year business curriculum is being revised as to content and standards of achievement to meet more adequately the demands of business and more and better trained workers in the clerical, stenographic, and office machine occupations. In typewriting and shorthand the minimum requirements are being raised from ten to twenty words per minute. The secretarial practice course is being extended to include a quarter of specialized work on one or more office machines. In addition the secretarial students are assisting the local rationing board by checking the extension and totals on rationing blanks and the transferring of information from the sugar rationing cards to the general rationing cards. These projects will greatly relieve the work of the board and save much time for the working men and their families.

During the summer session when equipment and teachers are available we are offering a number of specific defense training courses. These courses include intensive training in shorthand, typewriting and office machines and are intended primarily as refresher courses for college and non-college trainees desiring to prepare for defense jobs. The intensive program will provide non-commercial teachers who are required to take over commercial work for the duration with sufficient training to enable them to teach beginning classes with a fair degree of efficiency; will assist the war effort by more adequately preparing high school graduates for positions in offices, and enable those who have had some commercial training previously to reestablish their skills on a marketable level.

MODERN LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

The Modern Language Department is not content with education as usual. Both class work and the Spanish and French club activities are consciously directed toward "education for war" and especially for "the peace that follows." This idea of world peace which has always been an ultimate objective of modern language teachers now becomes pressingly immediate as we realize that interdependence of nations is a fact which must be accepted and to which we must adjust ourselves. A reading knowledge of a language is no longer sufficient. Clipper and radio bring us within listening and speaking distances with both the old and the new worlds. It becomes more necessary, therefore, that we learn to understand and speak other languages. We must try more than ever to become acquainted with the thoughts, beliefs, customs and viewpoints of other nations, with the great wealth of ideas that make for appreciation and development of our different cultures. The Spanish Department, which has been growing rapidly here as elsewhere in recent years, has added many new courses to meet both these linguistic and cultural needs. It is especially contributing to the study of the other American nations. The stress is on Latin America, and this year a course is being offered in Spanish Literature to meet the needs of our Latin American students. Courses in French are as varied for the present small classes as for the large ones of the past. An elective course in French translation was offered last spring for several students who were interested in preparing for positions as translators, interpreters, and clerks in foreign service departments. Seven students elected the course and one tried the civil service examination in March. French is a "war" language used by sixty million people as a national tongue, by eighty-three as a colonial language, and by some fifty million as a cultural or secondary language. Its literature will remain the key to the understanding of much of our own culture as well as that of most other countries of the world.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION AND PHILOSOPHY

The whole department of education and philosophy is sensitive to the demands which the war is making upon the schools and colleges. The strategic position of this department in a teacher's college enables it to keep before the faculty, students, and administration the educational problems growing out of the conflict. Although we have not seen fit to give any of our courses war titles there are some courses in which phases of the war are given special attention. In the courses in elementary and secondary education contrasts between school practices in democracies and in the totalitarian states are drawn. In the course in audio-visual education opportunity is provided for a study of audio-visual aids dealing with the war. In the summer school work shop students have an opportunity to select and organize materials on war problems for use with their own classes in the public schools. In the courses in the philosophy of education the underlying principles of the social system involved in the struggle are given considerable attention. Consequently, these points of emphasis are reflected in the activities of the training school which are also included in the department of education and philosophy.

THE ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

The English Department offers one new course in business writing, with the emphasis on precision, and another in English and American literature which is designed to exemplify our national ideals of freedom and democracy. Accuracy, clearness, and facility in the use of the mother tongue are particularly necessary when people work together under stress as in war times, and a clear vision of the spiritual heritage for which we are fighting is needed to inspire and guide us both in war and in peace. By helping the students to gain these, the English Department hopes to make some contribution to the war effort.

Alumnae Chapter Activities

Your organized loyalty is important to your College in these uncertain times, and your College is important to you! Naturally, war activities are of paramount interest now, but don't forget that Farmville gave you some fine ideals and that she needs her "daughters true, faithful, and loyal" in this national crisis. We are proud of our Chapter accomplishments last year! The following are some of the fine things reported to us. If your chapter did more than is listed, we are indeed sorry. Please send us a detailed account of all your activities each year. The abbreviated style is for your convenience.

WAACS and WAVES

There are 7,500,000 graduates of American Colleges and Universities. They represent the the highest product of civilized man, and they are not sitting idly by while the world is on fire, and doing nothing about it. They realize that America is worth fighting for, and they propose to help win this war and to shape the peace hereafter. The voice of her Colleges and Universities resounds from her desert sands and mountain peaks to her populous cities and rural communities—"And ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." Most of our Farmville Alumnae are in the war effort. Many are mothers of gallant sons on our farflung battlefronts! Hundreds are married to men in the armed forces and are keeping the home fires burning for them and their children. The following list of WAACs and WAVES is incomplete, but it is the best we could do: WAACs: Elizabeth Carroll, Thelma Houpe, Hilda Hubbard, Catherine Riddle, Blanche Taylor Bradley. WAVES: Virginia Carroll, Nell Eva Hurt, Jane McGinnis, Margaret Stratton, Elizabeth Tyree.

Frances Hutcheson is with the Air-Transport Command and the following girls are at Langley Field: Marie B. Allen, Virginia Barksdale, Anne Cock, Jack Cock, Lucille Crute Coltraine, Texie Belle Felts, Margaret Farrar, Anna George, Elizabeth Kent, Florence Lee, and Ruth Winstead.

While all of this is important, teaching still remains a most important part of the war effort, and Dr. Jarman is urging our graduates to remain in this profession.

Among Our Alumnae

1884-1900

MADGE Goode (Mrs. W. C. Moore), has spent many years away from Virginia, moving from one college town to another with her professor husband, and making a home for her daughter, Lillian, as the latter engaged in the arduous training that has made her a leading ballet dancer with the Metropolitan Opera Company. Some account of Miss Moore's accomplishments was given in the Alumnae Magazine, 1942. Later information states that she has written articles on music and the ballet, and her book, "Artists of the Dance", has established her position as an authority on dance history. She was in Richmond in November, and danced for the Woman's Club.

Celeste Parrish, who was one of the earliest graduates of Farmville State Normal School, began her career in a one-room public school in Pittsylvania County. She was mathematics teacher at Farmville, head of psychology and pedagogy departments at Randolph Macon Woman's College, and was rural supervisor of Georgia at the time of her death, in 1918. The Pittsylvania Education Association has placed in the Pittsylvania County Courtroom a portrait of the distinguished educator.

Nelly C. Preston makes her home in Bristol since selling the one-hundred year old Preston home to Col. Cary Ingram Crockett, a connection of the family. The beautiful twenty-four room house was originally a tavern or stage coach inn, and many well known persons stopped there frequently.

Martha M. Kennerly, having reached the three score years and ten limit, has retired from her position of Professor of Biology in Hunter College, New York. She has been a part of that institution since 1906. She will divide her time between her native state, Virginia, and the state of her adoption.

Mary Beverley Ratcliffe (Mrs. Richard L. Chenery), 2216 Park Ave., Richmond, Va., has been and is engaged in varied activities, "all pleasant and some delightful", she says. A partial list includes: teacher of Woman's Bible Class, representative of her church in Richmond Federation of Church Women, member of Advisory Board of Social Service, head of Red Cross Sewing Group, member of Poe Shrine and Woman's Club, mother of five (one in Uncle Sam's service), and grandmother of four.

Lucy Wright (Mrs. G. B. James) 16 Maple Ave., Newport News, Va., is the author of an article in the May, 1942, issue of The Journal of the National Education Association, the title being Hickory Neck, Historic One-Room School, with the descriptive sub-title, "A Nostalgic account of a school of yesterday by an admirer and friend of the schools of today". The position of owner-manager of The Shirley Apartment Hotel, in Newport News, furnished a decided contrast to the earlier experience.

Laura Chilton (Mrs. Harry Nichols), after living in Missouri and Chicago for 25 years is back home again—or next door to home—1717 P Street., Washington, D. C. Susie Chilton, who lives with her, teaches in Roosevelt High School.

Belle Mears (Mrs. L. M. Miller), has been living in New Jersey for a number of years, but is back in her old home at Hampton, to the delight of her friends in that city.

1901-1910

Alice E. Paulett (Mrs. Geoffrey Creyke), 3525 R St., N. W., Washington, D. C., in the spring of 1942 was unanimously elected State Regent, District of Columbia Daughters of the American Revolution. She was installed at the continental congress of the National Society, D. A. R., held in Chicago in May. Mrs. Creyke has been active in civic work in Washington for a number of years.

Margaret Henderson (Mrs. Arthur P. Forbes), 2504 A Grove Ave., Richmond, Va., is one of thirteen Virginians appointed in May by the president of N. E. A. to serve on committees of that organization. She is a member of credit unions committee.

Carrie Bliss, Farmville, Va., at one time was engaged in relief work in Brunswick County, now is director of welfare in Prince Edward County. Her heart is in her work, and she welcomes an invitation to present the cause of the needy to sympathetic groups.

Mary Margaret Hudson (Dr. Mary Hudson Wright), is head of the Department of English in McKendree College, Lebanon, Ill. She has specialized in the field of creative writing, and is a member of the American Association of University Professors, and of Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary professional writing fraternity.

Sophie G. Booker (Mrs. Andrew D. Packer), is superintendent of St. Luke's Hospital, Tryon, N. C. For several years she was connected with John Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore.

Clair Woodruff (Mrs. J. Luckin Bugg), Farmville, Va., after a year spent in administering the affairs of the Virginia Division of the U. D. C. was re-elected president without opposition.

Mrs. Julia Saunders Kyle, Dillwyn, Va., began her teaching career in Buckingham County forty years ago. In this school and the others in which she served "she was more than a teacher; she was an inspiration". Former pupils said to her, "I want you to start my boy and girl." In 1923, Mr. Harris Hart, superintendent of public instruction, asked Mrs. Kyle to take charge of the Pamunkey Indian School, on the reservation in King William County. There she did a notable work. The Indians loved her and adopted her into their tribe. Chief Miles gave her a title, "the great white mother of the Pamunkeys". Her pupils have done well, some are graduates of colleges, some hold responsible positions in Richmond, Philadelphia, and New York. The State Board of Education gave her work signal recognition when she retired at the close of the 1941-42 session. She is now living at her old home in Buckingham County.

Mary DuPuy, since 1929, has been associated with Berea College, Ky.—one of the most interesting and unique institutions in America. Her work in the Sociology Department consists of college teaching and extension work in the hills and foothills of eastern Kentucky. According to a former administrator, Mary's work, as well as the institution, is unique. He said, "Her presence transforms any company of which she is a part. What this country needs is a Mary DuPuy in every community!"

For the past nine years Carrie Sutherlin has been president of Arlington Hall Junior College, doing an outstanding piece of work. Following the taking over of the building and grounds of Arlington Hall by the United States Army last spring, she accepted the position of President of Chevy Chase Junior College for Girls. The Farmville Herald says of her appointment: "Miss Sutherlin's long and successful career in college work, her popularity and distinguished personality, make her the ideal person to fill this position."

1911-1920

Sue Cook (Mrs. Lowry S. Booker), 1023 Westover Ave., Norfolk, Va., has acquired in the years since she was at S. T. C. a B. S. and M. A. from Columbia University, while she was an assistant in the Lincoln School. She has been a critic teacher in Ohio University and in S. T. C., Danbury, Conn., and a principal at Valley Stream, Long Island. Now she is successful in another line, that of homemaker.

Florence Buford, Charlottesville, Va., in June was elected president of the University of Virginia Alumnae Association for a two-year term.

Mary I. Payne is the wife of Dr. Benson Davis, Dean of Meredith College, Raleigh, N. C.

Elvira Wentworth Carr (Mrs. John Boyd Bentley), Bishop's Lodge, Nenana, Alaska. This address identifies Elvira as the wife of a missionary bishop in this far away land. Bishop Bentley said, "I wasn't sure how long my bride would stick it out. She, who was accustomed to ease and comfort in Virginia, was up against some rough, primitive life in the isolation of the lower Yukon River. I heaved a sigh of thanksgiving when I saw the last steam boat of the summer pulling away—leaving Mrs. Bentley standing stanchly on the shore." Her support of his work has strengthened with the years.

India Edmunds (Mrs. Burch), 2803 Ontario Road, N. W., Washington, writes, "I have been in the Navy Department of the Government for almost a year, and like it very much. I have been made assistant clerk in my division and have charge over all the typists. I teach men and women the set up of the mails and files in (Y & D) Yards and Docks Section. It is very interesting."

Marjorie Goodwyn (Mrs. Davis), Richmond, Va., is sponsor of the very energetic war activities committee of Thomas Jefferson High School which takes charge of all defense work done throughout the school.

Louisa Glassell (Mrs. A. G. W. Christopher), Remo, Va., with two boys, seven and ten years of age, is doing her bit for Farm Security "the very nicest Department of the Department of Agriculture", she says. At one time she taught in an agricultural high school at Herndon, Va.

Mary Hamill Bell (Mrs. E. Bagby Atwood), 2904 San Gabriel, Austin, Texas, received her M. A. degree from University of Virginia. Her thesis was a study of children in the novels and short stories of Alphonse Daudet. Dr. Atwood is a member of the faculty of University of Texas.

Carrie Hunter (Mrs. Marion Willis), Fredericksburg, Va., has a son who, like his mother, "does things and goes places". He has been put into the class of Hollywood's best actors by Alfred Hitchcock, famous director, after "Matt Willis" (screen name) had completed an important role in "Saboteur". "Swamp Water", "Rise and Shine", "The Fleet's In", "The Spoilers" are some of the pictures in which he has played a part, almost always that of a tough character. His sister, Caroline, Farmville graduate, is a librarian in Troy, New York.

Catherine B. Riddle, 616 Baldwin Place, Norfolk, Va., a member of the first degree class at Farmville S. T. C., was also a member of the first class of Women's Army Auxiliary Corps. Lieut. Riddle's picture has appeared in local papers, showing her in the classroom at Fort Des Moines, where she received training, and in her uniform in Norfolk. She was on the program of the regional association of deans of women and advisers of girls in session at Westhampton College in November.

Kathleen Barnett (Mrs. L. R. Fringer), is a busy homemaker and loyal church woman in her community, Catawba, Va.

Jessie Brett (Mrs. V. C. Kennedy), 1729 Bay St., S. E., Washington, D. C. For several years after her marriage, Jessie lived in Seattle. Since 1932, she has lived in Washington, D. C. She completed her work for the A. B. degree at George Washington University, and is now teaching English and Social Studies in Jefferson Junior High.

Ola Channell (Mrs. F. G. Berryman), Smithfield, Va., has the well deserved honor of serving as Vice-Regent of the Virginia Division of the D. A. R., having been elected at the State convention in Lynchburg last March.

Margaret Godbey (Mrs. Melvin Smith), lives at Rich Creek, Va. After serving as elementary and high school principal for several years, she re-entered college and completed work for the A. B. degree and a degree in library science. She was married to Lt. Smith upon his return from France in 1918. Now her son, Thomas, is a petty officer in the Navy, and her husband is taking the son's place in the defense effort at home. Margaret herself is registered for Civilian Defense.

Julia Travis Holt, of Hampton, is one of a small group of Virginia artists whose paintings were included in the Biennial Exhibition of Contemporary American Paintings this year. Artists selected for the biennial, one of the three or four nationally important art shows, represent almost every section of America. As more than 1500 paintings were considered by a five-man jury of prominent American artists, the inclusion of Miss Holt's paintings in the exhibition is a tribute to the excellence of her work.

Elizabeth Jarrett is a representative of the Board of Christian Education of the Methodist Church, headquarters in Richmond, Va. An editorial in the Times-Dispatch for October 22, 1942, commends the pointed proposal she made to the Virginia Methodist Conference in session on that date. She asked why so many churches lock their doors from Sunday to Sunday and proposed "that children's and beginners' departments should be opened as play schools where the children, otherwise facing neglect, might be cared for and educated along useful lines. The mothers then could go to their work or to their volunteer assignments with a mind free of worry. . . . Miss Jarrett's vision is a bright one, both for a nation at war and for the unenvied youngsters who already are, in effect, war orphans".

Annie Ford Turpin (Mrs. W. F. Revercomb). To quote from a letter sent in by one of her colleagues in the Lynchburg schools, "Mrs. Revercomb is considered one of the best teachers in the city. . . . The parents petitioned the board to allow her to be moved to the next higher grade in order that she might continue her good work with their children".

Fannie and Margaret Wygal, since the death of their father and brother several years ago, live at the old home, Jonesville, Va., and with the aid of tenants, have become successful farmers. Bonnie (Mrs. S. V. Gibson), who lives within a few miles of their home, has three daughters, the eldest, Charlotte, a senior in high school.

Elsie Stull is an active community worker in Covington in the Rainbow Ridge Chapter, D. A. R., the Covington Woman's Club, and other organizations. At present she is president of the Alleghany Chapter of U. D. C.

1921-1930

Elizabeth Hutt (Mrs. T. F. Martin). The students and faculty in Farmville miss Mrs. Martin this year. She and her young daughter, Jean McNutt, and Mr. Martin are living in Florence, S. C., and are happy to be home again. Her mother, Georgie Bryan Hutt, and her sister, French Hutt Hoole, and family all live in Florence.

Julia Wilson is Assistant Librarian in the School of Medicine at the University of Maryland in Baltimore. Her special interest for several years has been the history of medicine, and her scholarship in that field has been recognized by the publication of some of her research articles in The Annals Medical History "The Aristocrat of Medical Journals", and in the Bulletin of the School of Medicine.

Elizabeth Roberts, 20 Sixth St., S. E., Washington, D. C., received her call from the War Department a year ago, her work being in the office of the Quartermaster General. Busy for six days a week, she nevertheless finds time to teach a large Bible Class on Sundays. She has represented her class on the Bible Quiz Radio Program.

Willie H. Savage is doing an excellent piece of work as Rural School Supervisor in the Wythe County Schools.

Sara V. Hughes (Mrs. Wm. Chapman Revercomb), 917 Edgewood Drive, Charleston, W. Va., is one of the few alumnae to move in Congressional circles in Washington. In November Mr. Revercomb successfully opposed M. M. Neely, governor of West Virginia, who was a candidate for a second term as senator from that state.

A. Merle Davis, Henrico C. H., Richmond, Va., was principal of Pamplin High and Elementary School for several years. During that time she was a member of the curriculum committee revising the Virginia Course of Study. At present she is elementary supervisor of Henrico County. She was a member of the committee which assisted the editor of the Virginia Journal in securing and selecting material for the special art and music issue of March, 1942.

Maude Glenn, Prospect, Va., an outstanding teacher in Prospect High School, has succeeded Ann Holladay as deputy clerk of Prince Edward County. Ann married Dr. A. M. DeMuth, now a Captain in the army and stationed at Edgewood Arsenal.

Mary D. Finch, Poston, Arizona, has found in the Japanese Relocation Center on the edge of the desert the work for which she has longed ever since she had to return to the United States from Japan. She writes, "My pupils are responsive and alert. I enjoy working with them. Sixty-five per cent of the people here are American citizens. Many opportunities of service here."

Nora Garrett (Mrs. John Lancaster), Farmville, Va., retired from teaching after many years as popular guide of the Farmville fifth grade. Now she is busy and prominent in many community and social affairs. She has been secretary of the District D branch of V. E. A., president of Farmville Alumnae Chapter, president of Farmville Woman's Club, and was chairman in March of the Institute of the Third District of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs. She has held office in Longwood Garden Club, and her beautiful yard attracts attention of many who pass by as well as those who visit it in the changing seasons.

Elise Eugenia Bradley (Mrs. E. T. Clark), Weldon, N. C., is a writer whose work is published in the Caravan of Verse and Lyrics for Song Hits, also in various newspapers and in anthologies. She has been a missionary teacher in the mountains of North Carolina, Social Worker and Supervisor of Playground Work and Adult Education.

Geneva Lionberger (Mrs. Oscar F. Blackwell), 9 Wetherill Road, Westmoreland Hills, Md., has married a Lutheran minister who was in 1941-42 president of the Washington Federation of Churches.

Olive Smith (Mrs. W. D. Bowman), 2910 20th St., Washington, has a son, Warren, Jr., who at the age of twelve, is a recognized zoologist in his section of the city. In the Washington Sunday Star of August 9 there is printed a "Prize Contribution from Taft Junior High School", which is remarkable from the standpoint of graphic English and from the subject of the article—his pet boa constrictor, which had been sent to him from Texas.

"Billie" Holladay, Pahala, Hawaii, is an instructor in English and Science and the librarian in one of the plantation schools. Her pupils, two hundred fifty in number, represent at least ten nationalities, but no discord was evident after that fateful December 7. Her years on the island have been happy ones, she writes, and she intends to stay as long as she is needed. She has responded to every need, and found time for Red Cross work until "my hands are so tired from making bandages and knitting that I can hardly write" . . . an example to be followed by those who sit in safety and quiet.

Daphne Gilliam (Mrs. D. Todd Wool), 119 W. 121st St., New York City. Mr. Wool is chief counsel and vice-president of the P. Lorillard Tobacco Company.

Margaret Hubbard (Mrs. Walter J. Seeley), Ravenna, Ohio, is traveling with Lieut. Seeley from one ordnance post to another.

Marguerite Erdman, Tappahannock, Va. After teaching Latin and English in Lloyds High School for eight years, Marguerite made an abrupt change into the field of elementary supervision of instruction in Essex and King and Queen Counties.

Helen N. McKenry (Mrs. B. N. McComb), Box 197, Baton Rouge, La., while active as First Aid instructor for the Red Cross, Motor Corps chairman, and many other duties, took time to write the secretary a little about her life in that distant state.

Laura H. Mottley, Lawrenceville, Va., is home management supervisor for Farm Security Administration in Brunswick County. Starting as a teacher of home economics, she became supervisor of that work in Isle of Wight and Nansemond Counties before moving to Lawrenceville.

Catherine D. Bentley, 4206 Kingcrest Parkway, Richmond, Va., is a busy high school teacher, but she finds time for "extra curricular activities", as she did when a student at S. T. C. She was a member of the cast of the hilarious melodrama, "Ten Nights in a Bar-room", which delighted soldiers at nearby camps.

Ida Hill, since receiving an M. A. from Columbia University, has continued her studies in summer school at Universities of Virginia, Wisconsin, Columbia, and Duke and evening classes at George Washington University. She taught in Kenbridge and Alexandria High Schools several years; for the past six years she has taught classes in mathematics and science in Alice Deal Junior High School, Washington. Her desire for knowledge and new experiences has taken her to the West Coast, Florida, and Canadian Rockies.

Christie May Harris, 605 N. Greene St., Greensboro, N. C., is serving as temporary chairman of the Greensboro Alumnae Chapter. She is past president of the Pilot Club, an international civic organization. Her occupation is teaching shorthand, filing, and secretarial training at King's Business College.

1931-1942

Cleo Quisenberry (Mrs. Gordon Kent, Jr.), has recently moved from Naruna, Va., where she was a teacher in the high school, to Newport News. Besides classwork she was athletic coach for girls, sponsor of the annual and the senior class, coach of the senior play, chairman of Defense Savings, and in the P. T. A. was secretary, on the program and library committees. Doesn't that sound like Cleo!

Ruth Hunt, Rocky Mount, Va., was head of the music department and social director at Miller Manual Labor School for four years. Now she is teaching seventy-two seniors in Rocky Mount High School, is Hi-Y and Co-tillion Club sponsor, director of the glee club and two church choirs—a very efficient and busy lady, as of old.

Gay A. Richardson, 2315 Park Avenue, Richmond, Va., has found congenial work in Virginia State Library.

Mildred V. Lancaster, 806 W. Franklin St., Richmond, Va., has a responsible position in the chemistry department of DuPont Company at Amphyll.

Anne Randolph B. Putney (Mrs. William Flora), 14 Murray Place, Princeton, N. J., studied at Duke University and won a husband and a master's degree there. Now she is assisting in the compilation of the history of Princeton University.

Mary Kathleen Ranson, is a member of the faculty at Georgia State College for Women, Milledgeville, Georgia.

Martha T. Hamlet (Mrs. James Conway Davis), 5416 Edgemoor Lane, Bethesda, Md., is engaged in war work with the British Royal Air Force Delegation in Washington. It must be exceedingly interesting to be "on the inside."

Sudie Yager, Rochelle, Va., is teaching English, Latin, and Journalism at Fairfax Hall Junior College. She has an M. A. degree from Oklahoma A. & M.

Meriel R. McAllister (Scotty), teacher of French in Covington High School since her graduation, is this year assistant in the Spanish Department at the University of Wisconsin, and a student of romance languages. She has studied French and Spanish at Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vt., and completed work for a master's degree in the summer of 1942.

Margaret E. Hughes (Peggy), 4207 Augusta Ave., Richmond, Va., won praise and gratitude when in the exercise of her duties as life-saver at Swift Creek Park she brought to the surface a workman who was seized with cramps when he jumped into the water, administered artificial respiration, and checked the flow of blood from nose and mouth by scientific pressure upon the arteries supplying the head. Training in Life-Saving and First Aid classes at S. T. C. had prepared her for a service which none of the bystanders could render. "It was one of the coolest demonstrations of skill I have ever seen", was the happy commendation of the Park manager.

Marcia Elizabeth LeGrand (Mrs. James M. Grainger, Jr.), Hopewell, Va., had a leading role, "Cousin Hebe", in the operetta, "Pinafore", presented at Camp Lee Theater No. 1 in May by civilian ladies and Camp Lee soldiers. Mrs. Grainger is supervisor of music in Hopewell High School.

Dorothy E. White (Mrs. C. Kerley Stoddard), Box 662, Boulder City, Nevada, received her master's degree at University of Md., in 1941. Dr. Stoddard received his Ph. D. at the same university in 1940, so that is where the romance started.

Mabel Barksdale (Mrs. E. C. Norris), Stuart, Va., was for several years a successful teacher. She left the ranks last spring to take a foreman's place in the DuPont plant in Martinsville. The girls in the Textile Area are fortunate to have her in charge of their particular section.

Doris V. Robertson, Dinwiddie, Va., is now one of the four Field Supervisors of Home Economics for the State of Virginia. Her headquarters are in Farmville.

Laura Nell Crawley is Supervisor of Music in the schools of Bristol, Va. Her mother, Nellie Copenhaver (Mrs. J. W. Crawley) lives at Hampden-Sydney, Va.

Frances Hutcheson, daughter of Fannie Graham Hutcheson, '13, is a cryptographic clerk in the Air Transport Command, a rather new organization in the U. S. War Effort. These girls relieve soldier clerks for over-sea duty in the signal corps. She is now stationed near Detroit, Michigan.

Virginia Drewry Jones (Mrs. R. S. Craighill):

Virginia's husband is in the Navy and they were at Pearl Harbor at the time of the bombing. She was fortunate enough to be among the evacuees last summer and is now living at Shaker Heights, Ohio.

Agnes Thompson has been elected treasurer of the student body of Scarritt College, Nashville, Tenn., where she is working on her Master's degree. She represents, in this work, a group of students from thirty-five states and nineteen countries. Agnes' mother, Florence Sledd Howard, '10, lives at South Hill, Va.

In the words of Douglas Freeman, Agnes Bondurant, with the publication of her charming book, Poe's Richmond "moved at a single step from the rank of a beginner into the company of established scholars." Poe's Richmond not only sets forth Richmond during Poe's life there, but it also sets forth a story "as fine as any author tells." This book was immediately accepted as a substantial and permanent addition to "Pocana". And yet Agnes remains the unassuming scholarly student that she has always been. At present, she is teaching in the Farmville H. S.—a position after her own heart.

First honor graduate of the class of June, 1942, was Mary Hunter Edmunds, Danville, Va., while Sara Cline, Roanoke, Va., and Jane Lee Hutcheson, Farmville, Va., tied for second honor. In the August class, Iva E. Cummings, Lexington, Va., and Nell Scott, Parksley, Va., were valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively.

An Appreciation From The New York Chapter

Our College Choir with the Duke University Chapel Choir and Princeton University Glee Club broadcast from the New York Studio, in Radio City over N. B. C., Brahms' "Requiem" on March 19, 1942. The following is an excerpt from a letter of appreciation from our New York Chapter.

"The New York Chapter of the Farmville Alumnae had a rare treat at the very interesting dinner meeting of March 28. This meeting was held at The Great Northern Hotel where the dinner and floor show arrangements were exceptionally good.

We are deeply indebted to Mr. Alfred H. Strick for a delightful evening's entertainment. We should like for you to express our sincere appreciation to him and to all others who contributed so ably to the charming program, Miss Richards and Miss Kauzlarich of the faculty, as well as the bevy of talented and pretty girls who participated. Miss Peggy Bellus deserves special mention. The numbers were all rendered with sincerity and skill, and they gave evidence of the soundness and thoroughness which is so characteristic of the State Teachers College at Farmville. The meeting was graciously presided over by our eminent New York Chapter's president, Pauline Williamson, and the program was planned by our able vice-president, Cabell Gannaway Giles. Our guest speaker, Miss Mary Peck, brought us a message straight from our Alma Mater, which touched each one of us. We were happy to have her with us.

Our New York Chapter is grateful to all of you for coming, and to our beloved president, Dr. Jarman, for making it possible to have you here.

Faithfully submitted by:

E. MEBANE HUNT
"Secretary, Pro Tem"

History of the Lynchburg Chapter

The Lynchburg Chapter of Farmville Alumnae has a complete record of its activities since the time of its organization in May 1909.

The first meeting of the Lynchburg Chapter of State Normal School Alumnae was held at the home of Mrs. Jean Boatwright in May, 1909. The purpose of this meeting was to organize the chapter. The following officers were elected: Miss Ida Watts (Mrs. J. H. Ritner), President; Miss Mary Read, Vice-President; Miss Imogen Hutter (deceased), Corresponding Secretary; Miss Mary Lou Tucker, Recording Secretary; Miss Beverly Andrews (Mrs. Tom Hasking), Treasurer.

At its September meeting, the chapter decided to make the work of the year the raising of sufficient money for the scholarship to S. N. S. It decided that this money should be lent without interest to some deserving girl desiring to fit herself for a teacher.

The scholarship fund grew rapidly as a result of hard work and continued interest. Proceeds from rummage sales, minstrel shows, operettas, egg hunts, organ recitals, benefit movies, and pie sales accumulated. In June, 1910, the chapter selected from the graduating class of Lynchburg High School a girl on whom to bestow the honor of receiving the first loan. The "scholarship" amounted to seventy-five dollars and was presented at the High School Commencement.

Though the years have seen a slight change in the name of the organization, there has been no change in its aim. Loans have been made to twenty-one girls, some for a period of one year and some for as long as three years. Most of the girls receiving loans have endeavored to repay them promptly, so that the fund now almost maintains itself without a great deal of work on the part of the alumnae. This allows more time for social activities at the new monthly meetings (originally there were quarterly business meetings with an occasional social evening or all-day outing). Though the "ways and means" are altered, the spirit remains the same—one of loyalty for our Alma Mater and friendly cooperation with one another.

Nominees for Alumnae President

(Read before voting)

EDITH ESTEP GRAY, '20, is Mrs. Rosewell P. Gray of Signpine, Va. As a student here she was outstanding as assistant editor-in-chief of the Virginian, news editor of the Focus and author of the 1920 class poem. She was voted the "airiest and most original" in this class too. Since leaving College and settling in historic Gloucester County, she has been a leader in civic and religious life there. She was instrumental in organizing the Gloucester Farmville Alumnae Chapter and served capably as the first president. She has entered her two daughters at birth as students for Farmville.

LOUISE FORD WALLER, '11, is Mrs. S. Gardner Waller of 3423 Noble Ave., Richmond, Va. When she came here so young from Front Royal, Va., she was called "Rattie Ford" because she was the "rattiest" of the rats. As the first president of the student government at Farmville, she did much to organize and to make effective the honor system here. She was also president of the class of 1911. (Before the point system!) Her real leadership in College has carried over into her life in Richmond. At the present she is serving as vice-president of the Richmond Alumnae Chapter. She admirably graces the position of wife of the Adjutant General of Virginia.
